

MRWA "Wellhead Protection for Small Public Water Systems" Online Training

December 1st - 10am - 11am

Minnesota Rural Water Association (MRWA) is providing a series of webinars for small public water systems during these unique and challenging times while our in-person training is on hold. We understand that with the postponement of our in-person training, you still need certification credits for your water operator certificate. These online training webinars are accredited and can be used towards your water operator certification renewal.

Our next webinar will be held on December 1, 2020, at 10am. Mike Strodman, MRWA source water protection specialist, will be the guest speaker during this webinar. He will discuss how a streamlined Action Plan can now be utilized by small systems to meet the requirements of the Wellhead Protection Rule. This process is in place and has simplified all aspects of the small public water supplies' Wellhead Protection planning process. The Action Plan identifies measures that the water system can take to protect its source of drinking water and the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) provides opportunities for grant funding to help with the financial costs of completing wellhead protection activities.

If you have questions that you would like to email us prior to the webinar, please send them to us at mrwa@mrwa.com and we will include them in the webinar.
